

Romancing Print – 2015

Theme: “21st Century Printing”

First ever International Print Research Conference in India

Due to the fast developments in the technology, it is difficult to foresee where world printing market is heading. What will be the survival point for the existing printing units against the internet? How to survive in the increasing global competition? There may be many such questions every printer wants to understand for his future survival. Innovative business models pave the way for a secure future. It is essential to prepare the printing and packaging industry of India to withstand these challenges and to invest in the right and future technologies in Print.

Taking all these aspects in mind All India Federation of Master Printers (AIFMP) is going to organize the annual event ‘Romancing Print’ on 24 and 25 February, 2015. This year theme will be ‘21st Century Printing’ and will be organized in collaboration with the Department of Printing Technology, Guru Jambheshwar University of Science & Technology (GJUS&T) at Hisar, Haryana, India, to educate the Indian Printers about these developments and to prepare them for the future challenges.

In this first ever research oriented international conference in India, the learned technologists and ‘Print Pundits’ from across the globe will be invited to share their views and to educate the Indian printers about the future trends of the printing and packaging industry. Mr. Wang Yongsheng – China: Vice Chancellor BIGC (Beijing Institute of Graphic Communication); Mr. Sidney Bobb – UK: Chairman BAPC (British Association for Print & Communication) & Chairman ACCC (Association of Colour Communication Centers); Ms. Yen Chen – China: President, China Print Academy; Mr. Håvard Grjøtheim – Norway: CEO 07 Media & President of Intergraf; Ms. Beatrice Klause – Europe: Secretary General Intergraf, has already consented to be present. World renowned Mr. Frank Romano, RIT Professor Emeritus, USA and Modern Day Gutenberg, Mr. Benny Landa also consented to submit their research papers on the subject. Besides, confirmation of Prof. Hubler, Germany is awaited any moment. Besides these international personalities prominent people-in-print at least one each from every region of India will also be invited to share their views during this two day conference.

The conference is going to be a mile stone for the printing and packing industry of India, to organize them to be at the top of BRICS countries to secure maximum outsourced jobs from the west and other countries. More than 550 participants are expected to attend the mega event from across the country. The event includes presentations by the resource persons both from India & abroad and research paper presentations by the faculty members, researchers, industry experts, and students across the nation and printing of all the conference proceedings and research papers in the shape of a book to be released at the time of conference.

It is going to be the must attend conference for all the ‘People-in-Print’ to know what will the future of printing and to plan your own future, yes future of your business. Taking in consideration limited seats, you are requested to register today for this high voltage Print event of the year in India. Every registered participant will get the complementary copy of proceedings along with the kit for the conference. Your food during the conference (only Tea and Lunch) is included but you will have to take care of your transpiration, accommodation and dinner(s) etc. at your own, hotels ranging from Rs. 700 to 2200 per night are available in the city, the details of the hotel, facilities available and distance from the venue etc. are given at Annexure-1, however, our team can provide guidance for the same, if required.
